A conference respecting a uniform bankrupt act will be held at Washington early in January.

SPEAKER CARLISLE is free from the imputation of having punished his enemies or rewarded his friends.

RABBITS were offered this week as low as five cents each. They were never known to be so abundant as now.

THE Legislature meets on the 31st inst., and the caucus for the various offices will be held Saturday night.

THE shipments of coal from Pittsburg on the present high water are expected to amount to about six million bushels.

REPRESENTATIVE PRICE, of Wisconsin, will urge the passage of a bill giving $10 a month for life to every soldier and sailor who served ninety days during the late war.

"SHOOTING" whisky seems to have been the sort they drank in Paris on Christmas day. Four men are reported as having been shot there on that day—two fatally and two, perhaps, only seriously.

THE south gets twenty-nine chairmanships and the north twenty-four. The ways and means committee is clearly free trade. The chairmanships of twenty committees have been given by the speaker to men who voted against him.

CHAIRMAN BUCKNER, of the Committee on Banking and Currency, doubts whether any banking legislation can be secured during the present session, but he will introduce a bill providing for the issuing of Treasury notes without legal tender quality, to take the place of bank notes going out of circulation.

CONGRESSMAN FOLLETT met representatives of the whisky trade for the purpose of obtaining a fuller information relative to the bonded interests. He thinks there is no doubt of the bill, which will be introduced by Representative Willis, of Kentucky, passing. The Ways and Means Committee are known to favor it.

The electric light has been abandoned at Paris, France, as too costly, after several years' use. The expenditure during that time was from eleven to thirteen times more than it had been in former years for gas lighting. It is claimed, by way of explanation, that the great expense of electricity was caused by putting the wires under ground, which is where they should go as they are fatal to life and dangerous to property if put anywhere else.

Tax first loom, it is stated, ever made in the South, was put in operation in the Atlanta Cotton Factory last week. It was made by the Georgia Mill Supply Company, of Atlanta, and the superintendent says it is the best loom in the factory. The Supply Company claims that it can undersell the Eastern loom makers, because iron, coal, labor and wood are cheaper at Atlanta. They have just finished an order for fifty looms, and have several hundred others ordered.

This city officials of Louisville are puzzled over the property assessments of the city for 1894, which aggregate $62,127,322 against $66,118,534 last year, and $63,284,100 in 1892. It is claimed that the city has doubled in population and wealth in the past fifteen years, and yet it will be seen that there is a decline in the assessment of more than $1,000,000 compared with 1890. Manifestly, there is a blunder somewhere, but just what it is none of the Louisville officials seem to know at present.

A Mr. POWLING was, about fifty years ago, the manager of the Mayville theatre. It is said of him, that on the occasion of the appearance of the famous Mrs. Drake in Mayville, that when the audience became impatient he went to the footlights with the explanation: "When Mrs. Drake gets through cleaning herself and suckling her baby, she will appear in a fancy dance." The announcement, we are informed, was not taken as anything particularly out of the way, as actresses in those days were not afraid to be mothers, and cleanliness was considered next to godliness then as now.

THE Ashland Express says: We believe our exemption laws, enacted for humane and benevolent purposes, should be so amended as instead of specifying what articles of household goods and other articles should be exempt, as to say what property of a specified value should be exempt; and giving to the unfortunate debtor the articles he claims under the law, which then, would be more just and equal in its operation; and, in order to help helpless women and children, having drunken, or otherwise worthless husbands and fathers; such households should be deprived of the right to dispose of any of the exempted property unless with the consent in writing signed by the wife and the payment to her of the proceeds.

RURAL ENGLAND.

Hearty Old Fashioned Politeness
and Fresh Unaffected Country Girls.

[London Letter in New York Sun.]
Almost the first thing you are told when you take up your temporary residence in Blankshire, is that your comments must be guarded and your conversation diplomatic, as all the families within a visiting radius of twenty miles are related to each other. And so they are, for a death puts all the country-side in mourning, while a wedding calls out universal sympathy. Along the route of the bridal cortege, every cottage or farm house hangs out its little decoration, and in the town every tradesman has his flag, his bunch of flowers, or his bit of bunting, for has he not catered for the wants of the young couple from their christening upward?

Visitors and invitations promptly flow in upon the new comer with a hearty old-fashioned politeness. Dinner parties are not popular. In the summer other gatherings are preferred; and in winter or autumn the male portion of the community, the men who have been shooting and hunting for seven or eight hours, refuse to don the tail coat and white tie and drive ten miles for a ceremonious meal. Moreover, coachmen and groom, hard worked by their attendance on the excellent hunter (meaning the quadruped), turn crusty at being kept out till the small hours for social duties, although they are ever ready to turn out at 1 a. m. when it is necessary to ride eighteen miles to be at a meet for club hunting at 5 in the morning.

The girls—the strong, fresh, healthy, unaffected girls of Blankshire—seem to exist on lawn tennis, with an occasional trial at cricket, in which mainly sport they are no mean adepts. But tennis is the inevitable, the universal, the all-engrossing game. In front of the low, broad, many-windowed, creeper-grown houses of the gentry, spread the well-kept lawns, smooth as carpets, soft and springy as moss, and across their green expanse are stretched as many nets as the accurate measurement of the courts will allow. There from morning till sunset the balls fly, sent over by strong, supple wrists, while the air echoes to reiterations of the tennis slang. The men of all ages and denominations are clad in their flannels, and, like the girls, wear the flat India rubber soled shoe, for on no account must the admirably kept turf be cut up. While the game progresses the strangers and the non-players are piled with tea and the thinnest of bread and butter.

At no hour between 3 and 6 can you pay a visit in the country without the neat silver service being brought in, and the rites of 5 o'clock tea complied with. Then you are shown over the house by the kind hostess, and gladden her soul by genuine admiration of the rare bits of china, the quilt-carved balusters of oaken staircases, odd recesses, curious old engravings, older and more curious books in gigantic bindings and colossal type. Among these, in strange disarray, and yet unmistakably the index to the keynote of courtly minds, shines the red binding of all the peerages and volumes dedicated by Burke, Debut and others to the nobility and gentry. Some are in three volumes, others fat and voluminous like a commercial directory, others only pocket editions of the same. Each family knows its own lineage and descent of every other. What the New Testament was to the old Covenanters, the printed record of his ancestors is to the British landowner—his vade mecum, his guide, his fundamental dogma. Some-times of two brothers one only figures in the "Land Gentry." The other has lost his claim to appear in the "Livres d'Or," for he has embraced trade and become a brewer or brewer.

Young Ladies' Hair.
[Chicago Tribune.]
Young girls, in society, when in full dress, are wearing the hair arranged in five or six heavy curls in the back, confined low in the neck by a sparkling ornament of some description—a saire with a hint of mock diamonds, or Rhine stones and pearls, being very popular. The hair waves over the entire crown of the head, and is arranged in a fluffy, careless fashion over the forehead. No other ornament is worn when this style is adopted except the glittering saire. Many young ladies wear the curls in the back and have all the rest of the hair cropped close and laid in loose, airy rings all over the head.

California Cotton Raising.
[Chicago Herald.]
Cotton raising in southern California has not proved as profitable as was expected, and the chief trouble seems to be inefficient labor and its high price. Most of the planters engaged Chinese to do the work for them, but one season's experience has proved that, while the Chinaman demands almost as much for his work as the white man, he cannot pick one-third the amount of cotton. A number of negroes are to be engaged to take the place of the Celestials.

Trying to Inaugurate a Strike.
PITTSBURG, Dec. 26.—Some of the employees of the Pittsburgh and Western Road are making a rather ineffectual attempt to get up a strike. In opposition to the recent reduction in wages. Several conductors decided to quit the service of the company rather than submit to the cut in wages, and the through freight, which should have started out at 9:10 was delayed on account of having no crew. In this instance the brakemen went with their conductor, although their wages had not been reduced. So far only two conductors have quit work, and one or two of the engineers threaten to leave the road.

Still After the Stewart Estate.
BOSTON, Dec. 26.—A cousin of the late A. T. Stewart has turned up at Johnson, Vt., and entered suit for a share of the millionaire's estate. His name is John Stewart. He hails from County Antrim, Ireland, where he was born, his father being Thomas Stewart, brother of A. T. Stewart's father. His counsel are ex-Governor Hendee and Hon. George Waterman, who consult with L. E. Chittenden, of New York, the lawyer who won a slice of the estate for Alexander and Matthew Stewart, of Proctorville.

A Teacher Tried for Foul Play.
CRAWFORDVILLE, Ind., Dec. 26.—Some time since Temple H. Dunn, Superintendent of the Public Schools here, administered a terrible whipping to a scholar named Rock Krug, fifteen years old. He compels the boy to lie across a chair, and whips him until his body was black and blue. Dunn was arrested, and has been on trial the last three days. The jury disagreed standing seven for conviction and five for acquittal. The teacher will be tried again.

Triple Murder in North Carolina.
RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 25.—A triple murder was committed at Chatham Church, six miles from Monroe. The victims were Mrs. Olive Gunter, eighty years old, and her daughter and grand daughter. Each was struck several blows with an axe. Every effort is being made to arrest the murderer, but as yet no clue has been discovered.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured.
"AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of the Inflammatory Rheumatism, with which I have suffered for many years."
W. H. MOORE,
Durham, Ia., March 2, 1892.

"Eight years ago I had an attack of Rheumatism so severe that I could not move from the bed, or dress, without help. I tried several remedies without much relief, until I took AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by the use of two bottles of which I was completely cured. I have not been troubled with the Rheumatism since. I have sold large quantities of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and it still retains its wonderful popularity. The many notable cures it has effected in this vicinity convince me that it is the best blood medicine ever offered to the public."
E. F. HARRIS,
River St., Buckland, Mass., May 13, 1892.

"Last March I was so weak from general debility that I could not walk without help. Following the advice of a friend, I commenced taking AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and before I had used three bottles I felt as well as I ever did in my life. I have been at work now for two months, and think your SARSAPARILLA the greatest blood medicine in the world."
JAMES MAYNARD,
620 West 42d St., New York, July 19, 1892.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Blisters, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin. Tug Ripley (O.) Scout says: Stamm's Silver Cornet Band assisted at the Bazaar given by Hanneke's band of Mayville, Friday evening. A large crowd was in attendance, and a handsome sum was realized on that occasion. Our boys are loud in their praise of the royal manner in which they were entertained by the band and ladies connected with the Bazaar.

Gala Day.
Baird's Minstral troupe, numbering thirty performers, with one of the finest bands in the country, will appear at the opera house on Tuesday, January 1st, at a family matinee in the afternoon and in a performance at night. The entertainment will be one of the best ever given in Mayville. Our readers in the country should see the grand parade in the morning and attend the afternoon performance. The matinee prices are 50 and 25 cents. There will be an entire change of programme at night.

The committee entrusted with the management of the bazaar for the benefit of Hanneke's band, desire to correct the statement made in this paper that the receipts amounted to $450. They amounted actually to only $332. It might have been better, but still the boys are well pleased, when they considered, that many persons who would gladly have attended the entertainment were prevented from going by the inclement weather that prevailed during the best part of the week. We are requested to say that the band returns their sincere thanks, first to the ladies who so earnestly worked to make the affair a success, and then to the standing committee of the Washington Fire Company for many courtesies extended, and lastly to the people generally for generous donations and for their cordial sympathy and encouragement. The band did not realize the full amount necessary to provide the uniforms needed, and may again before the winter is over, ask the assistance of the public, which they will cheerfully repay, mutually in the future. Other cities with bands not so good as ours support them by monthly contributions, and we should, at least, generously aid our home organization whenever necessary to do so. The city is much better with a good band than without it. The plover and silver pitcher contributed to the bazaar have not yet been raffled, as all the chances were not taken when the entertainment closed Saturday evening. Chances on the former may be taken by applying to Miss Rachel Schatzman, and on the latter by calling on Misses Lizzie Greenwood and Hannah Swift at the European Hotel.

Today we had the finest exhibition of tobacco that was ever on display to see. About ten days since Harrison Bros., the well known firm of this place, announced that they would, on this day, award a premium of ten dollars in gold for the best sample of three kinds. Thomas L. Best, David Ray and Henry Thompson were selected as the gentlemen to try the samples. They are men unbiassed in judgment and with a full amount of tobacco sense. Twenty-six samples were received. J. J. Sargent was awarded first prize, Alex. Duke second and Harrison Bros., of Orangeburg, third. After the prizes were placed and premiums awarded, the tobacco was in a hot and sold to the highest bidder, which was bought by H. W. Wells, who paid 55 cents per pound, aggregating $21.25. Wells is a bona fide tobacco buyer and knows good tobacco when he sees it.

CHRISTMAS OBSERVANCES.

How the Day Was Passed in Various Places.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 26.—Christmas in Washington has been unusually quiet, and, on account of the disagreeable weather, but few people were on the streets. All of the churches had early services—several at midnight—but all were thinly attended. The President returned from New York in the morning, and attended service at St. John's Episcopal Church at 11 o'clock. He was accompanied by his daughter, Nellie, and his son, Allan. Returning to the White House, he dined with the members of his family, and spent the remainder of the day quietly. The city police report fewer arrests than have been made for several years past on Christmas Day.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 26.—Christmas Day here passed off very quietly. The weather was delightful, and large throngs of people thronged the streets all day. Services were held at the different churches in the morning, and the matinee and evening performances at all the theaters were liberally patronized.

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The Christmas services in the London churches were elaborate and brilliant. Archbishop Corrigan, of New York, celebrated high mass at St. George's Cathedral, Southwark, at midnight, assisted by the Bishop of Southwark. The musical services, which were impressive and grand, included the rendition of Mozart's Twelfth Mass.

Trains Badly Delayed. New York, Dec. 26.—The storm has delayed all trains. Mails from the East were three hours late, those from the South two and a-half hours, while the Western mails had not been heard from at 11 o'clock. The Pittsburgh mails were reported four and a-half hours behind. Travel in the city is subject to less interruptions, many streets having been partially cleared of snow.

The Creek Council. Little Rock, Dec. 26.—The newly elected Council of the Creek Nation is now permanently organized. Henry Thompson was elected President of the House of Kings, and T. J. Adams Speaker of the House of Warriors, each for four years. The session promises to be unusually spirited.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 26.—MRS. Kate Parrot, aged fifty, a servant living at 239 West Fifth street, while passing a grate, about 9:30 Tuesday night, set her dress on fire, and, before assistance reached her, was so badly burned that she died shortly after.

I have had the piles and prolapsus of the rectum for five years, for the past three years I have suffered the most agonizing pain. I tried everything without relief, but after ten days' use of Kendall's Spavin Cure, I have not seen or heard of the piles since. One who has not suffered as I have cannot comprehend the great joy that I feel at being cured of a disease almost worse than death. I had a valuable young horse that had a large tumor gather on his breast bone. I tried all kinds of humors and had it cut open without any benefit. Saw your advertisement and bought a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and ordered my teamster to use as directed. In less than one week the lump had disappeared. Thinking that a liniment that would do what Kendall's Spavin Cure has done for my horse might benefit more, I tried it as a last resort. With gratitude and best wishes for your success, I am faithfully yours, J. H. GREEN.

VERVAY, IND., Aug. 12th, 1881. DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gentls—Sample of circulars received to-day. Please send me some with my imprint, printed on one side only. The Kendall's Spavin Cure is in excellent demand with us, and not only for animals, but for human ailments also. Mr. Jos. Norris, one of the leading farmers in our county, sprained an ankle badly, and knowing the value of the remedy for horses, tried it on himself, and it did far better than he had expected. What Dyspepsia Does.

It causes grievous pains by day and frightful dreams by night. It destroys the pleasure of a good dinner. It sours the disposition and makes its victim cross and petulant. It makes the breath bad, the eyes leaden, and the skin sallow. It makes the appetite capricious and unreasonable. It causes constant grumbling and complaining.

What "Brown's Iron Bitters" Does.

It invigorates the weakened stomach, and enables it to digest. It promotes the enjoyment of a hearty meal. It enriches the blood, improves the liver, and cheers the mind. It purifies the breath, clears the eyesight, and makes the skin natural. It brings a regular and healthy desire for food at proper times. Your DRUGGIST sells BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.
